Benefits

The programme allows organisations to deliver Adult Support & Protection Training at their most convenient time.

Don't just take our word, learn more from a Care Home Manager, who has utilised the programme.

"Training presents a prime opportunity to expand the knowledge base of all employees, but many employers find some development opportunities expensive. Employees also miss out on work time while attending training sessions, which may impact on the continuity of the service provision or stretching valuable resources even further. An opportunity to up-skill myself and the workforce was offered through the train the trainer programme. The train the trainer programme gave me the opportunity to develop and deliver Adult Support and Protection Awareness training in-house, tailoring the programme around our environment. We have a 2 hour induction training session that does not have a significant impact on the continuity of service provision. I Did not have to reinvent the wheel.....A ready to use training programme that links directly to local authority policies and legislative requirements, and it was Free!"

Joe Janikowski, Care Home Manager
